Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—Matthew Anderson is an Englishman who is grateful for American cookery. In disproof of gloomy predictions on the other side, he says, our cooking never gave a corpse a drizzle like himself a single twinge of indigestion. As a representative of the city of Liverpool he has been touring making speeches to Chambers of Commerce.

London—George Goodard, police sergeant serving 18 months in prison for taking bribes from night clubs, is worth at least $45,000. The crown seized $62,000 from him and in court proceedings he has recovered most of it. In addition to being imprisoned he was fined.

New York—A beautiful tall blonde of 22, a great granddaughter of Queen Victoria, is visiting us. She is the Grandduchess Kira, daughter of Grand Duke Cyril, claimant to the Russian throne. There have been suggestions that she will marry King Boris of Bulgaria. Asked about them, she said he had never proposed.

Boston—A ducking stool will be in action at the famous frog pond on Boston Common next summer. It is to be one of the attractions of the city's tercentenary celebration. A real person will be immersed just like scolds used to be. So far, there has been no competition by girls for the honor.

New York—A fine scheme of George Bernard Shaw has gone awry. He signed five blank sheets for Sava Botzaris, Greek artist, telling him to draw sketches of him as Americans would pay more for them if autographed. The sketches have been burned in a hotel fire.

Chicago—Othello is to be a sun-burned Caucasian in Chicago, not a black as Shakespeare had him. Charles Marshall of the Civic Opera.

Louis Leon Hall of the Civic Theatre, Othello and Cesare Fomich of the opera and Fritz Leiber of the theatre, have so decided in conference.

New York—It cost Mrs. Frederick Courtenay Penfield $250,000 before she became convinced that Dorothy Knapp, who once won an Atlantic City beauty contest, could not sing, dance or act. Testimony has been given as to the amount Mrs. Penfield invested in Earl Carroll's show "Kismet." Dropped from the cast, Miss Knapp is suing Mrs. Penfield, Carroll and others for $250,000.

Paris—Stephane Lauranne, editor of Le Matin, never calls on the telephone. He says the service is so irritating that he prefers to write or call in person.

Vatican City—The number of pilgrims given audience by the Pope so far this year exceeds 100,000.

Paris—The big three of the French government are all bachelors: Gaston Doumergue, president of the republic; Andre Tardieu, premier; and minister of the interior, and Aristide Briand, foreign minister. "What chance have I to put through a law on bachelors?" asked Henri Caumont, minister of finance.

SAMSONVILLE.
Samsonville, Dec. 12.—A birthday surprise was given Alfred Barringer on Tuesday night in honor of his 12th birthday. Ice cream and cake were served and his schoolmates and friends all report an enjoyable time and wish him many more birthdays. Zedec Barringer, who is ill with a cold, is not gaining as rapidly as his friends wish.

Those who attended the party at the house of Burton Barringer on Saturday enjoyed themselves. Refreshments were served at midnight. All hope to visit Burton some time again in the near future.

At the party on Saturday night at the house of Burton Barringer some lady exchanged articles with Mrs. Don C. Van Etten. Mrs. Van Etten would appreciate it very much if they would call and get theirs and return hers.

Only a small number of ladies attended the meeting at Mrs. James McCullough's on Saturday afternoon. Hope for a larger attendance at the next meeting, Saturday, December 21, weather permitting.

Gussie Beemer of Kingston is spending a few days at the home of her brother, John Beemer, who is ill. D. C. Van Etten, who has been spending a month at his home, has returned to Kingston, where he is employed by the New York Central railroad.

Fred Haver and wife called on Mrs. D. C. Van Etten on Tuesday evening. Raymond Davis is working for Noah Barringer.

A. Haver spent a few hours at the home of his son, Fred, on Monday.

Care of Silver
Silver that is in constant use should be washed well daily in hot soda, rinsed in hot water and polished immediately with a fresh, clean towel. It will keep bright a long time with such treatment.

"PSYCHOLOGICAL" LOSSES.

We find some pointed remarks
 quoted from the Lowell Courier Citizen on the subject of the many who now "feel poor" because of the "drinking" in the value of their stocks although they "have not lost a single penny" in consequence of the fact that their holdings "are no longer quoted at ridiculous prices."
 Without including the numerous persons who "really were caught by the slump," the Lowell paper goes on to say: "We are speaking only of those who saw their stocks appreciate amazingly in quoted price and who got into the habit of estimating the worth of their estates on that basis. They are right where they were all the time, so far as their income is concerned. But they think back to the days when their General Electric was away up around 400 and remember that today it is quoted at only about half as much, and that's what leads them to 'feel poor.' But it's mainly psychology that does this.
 If there had never been that sensational advance, and if the quotations had kept along steadily about where they are now, those same people would have felt reasonably prosperous."

It is true, however, that if they had sold their shares when they were at the peak they would now have about double value in their hands and it is this thought of the "might have been" that gives them the impression of having lost money. But if everybody had undertaken to sell at the peak, it is likely that prices
 would have tumbled more rapidly and reached a lower level than they did, with eventually perhaps worse conditions for all concerned. As it is, there is consolation for owners of better grade stocks to be found in the fact that even now, after the slump, their quoted prices range a little higher than they did a year ago.

ACTRESSES AND SOLDIERS.

Why a British duke can marry an actress and a British soldier can not be one of those mysteries of the conventions of British society which defy analysis and pass comprehension. If this particular convention dates back to the time when it was supposed that an actress could not be a lady even if she wanted and tried very hard to be, why didn't it bind a duke more hard and fast than a soldier? For the former's social position and responsibilities are supposed to be far more exacting. Anybody in England, from a duke down, can now marry an actress, with the single exception of a soldier, and so Francis Francis, a wealthy young subaltern of the Royal Horseguards must resign because he has become engaged to marry Sunny Jarmann, an American girl of the musical comedy stage. And this is by no means the first instance of the kind.
 One suggested explanation is based on the history of the Coldstream Guards, a regiment which sets the military fashions. For what it may be worth we quote it as follows:
 "This regiment was organized in 1659, shortly after the death of Cromwell, and when Charles II mounted the throne a little later. It was assigned to him as part of his household brigade. Now, the privileges of Charles II are well known. He turned a kindly eye on all lovely ladies, but particularly on lovely actresses. And it was probably thought well that any officer who married an actress should resign at once and take her to some spot in the country where she would be a good long way from the royal presence. This would be, in a manner of speaking, merely a sensible precaution to prevent inevitable trouble. And once a thing like that gets started, of course, it is very hard to stop"—particularly in conservative England. It might well have been added.

Adults who are annoyed because children ask too many questions
 ought to spend half a day at the desk or window of almost any public information service. They would soon learn that grown-ups ask as many,
 and sometimes as foolish, questions.

QUESTIONS AS YOUNGSTER. The questioning above are just as earnest and persistent as children's. Too. Railroad stations, department stores, public libraries, hospitals and big buildings nearly all have space reserved for an information service. Questions are rarely restricted to the subjects one would logically expect in any one of these places. People have a trusting way of assuming that the sign "Information" means just what it says,
 and that one can ask the same questions of the railroad, the library or the department store. Mind readers and crystal gazers could do no better than some of these professional information service people, who have imagination and tact and who treat the questioner with sympathy and respect.

Says John McCormack, who ought to know something about song values: "It is unfortunate that dance music and songs have become so closely connected, and that the first thing a publisher asks about a new song is, 'Will it make a good dance?'"
 You cannot sing of beautiful things in rhyme, nor have anything worth while in the words of a fox-trot.
 Wherein, to relapse into the current idiom, the Irish tenor said a mouthful. Think of that statement a little,
 and see if it doesn't shed a light on present-day songs and suggest why, with all their popularity, they fail to satisfy even a jazz age.

Verily the scientists are fond of large figures. They now gravely inform us that the earth and the moon

INJECTION OF VARICOSE VEINS.

It was our custom in examining for overseas service to have the recruit remove all his clothing so that any outstanding defect might be more readily discovered, otherwise we might examine eyes, ears, nose, throat, heart, and so forth, and then discover that the recruit had varicose veins in the legs.

If they were severe, he was rejected. However many of these men were anxious to go overseas, and they were given an opportunity of having the veins removed by operation, and after a month's time were put on the strength of a unit, given "light duty," and in another couple of months were usually capable of "carrying on."

Unfortunately some of these cases did not do very well, and they did not get overseas.

How different all this is now: the simple method of injecting the veins with salt, quinine, or other solutions is in use. Dr. H. O. McPherson, Minneapolis, has been investigating the results of the two methods—
 operation by the knife, and the injection
 method.

He reports that 119 physicians gave their records on the two methods. He finds that one of the lung complications following both methods occurred 70 times as often after the use of the knife as by the injection
 method.

Following the knife or injection method, there is of course some chance of pneumonia as there is in any operation. Although this occurred only about four times in a thousand cases, it did not occur at all
 by the injection method.

Further, the average time spent in hospital after the operative method is about 15 days, whereas there is no time spent in hospital after the injection treatment. Also there is another three weeks lost from work by the operative method, whereas those treated by the injection method lose no time whatever. And still further, fewer cases have the varicose veins come back again in patients having the injection treatment.

Now while this looks like a good case for the injection treatment, my thought is that while there are some individuals who will never submit to the knife under any circumstances, in view of the above figures they may feel willing to undergo the injection method, and thus get rid of these distressing and disabling varicose veins.

SYNOPSIS: A storm came around Yaw Lodge farm, and Peggy screamed as she vainly

 Sun-down appeared to be on a ram-

 negro servant, her nerves already keyed to the breaking point.

No, he decided he would return

No, he decided he would return to Stone Tower, take his car and try to catch Obadiah at Litchfield.
 From a vantage point behind a clump of shrub oak, Jim watched the botanist leave the tower. Jim waited until he was out of sight,
 then climbed to the top of the 30-foot tower.

From the observation tower one could see for miles around. Taking the binoculars strung around his neck, Jim surveyed the wooded country. Even with their powerful lenses he was unable to catch sight of Yew Lodge. Only part of the pond was visible. Disappointed he dropped the glasses and grasped the telephone.

He gave the number for Yew Lodge and waited. A worried operator reported that she had been unable to obtain an answer; that no one had answered the dozen calls she had tried to complete.

Waiting no longer, Jim took the stairs two at a time to the bottom and hurried along the steep and rocky path down the mountainside.
 Totally unaware that her absence from Yew Lodge was concerning others, Peggy Prescott went along the path leading to East Summit,
 while Julia, the ever-faithful, plodded just behind her.

On reaching the forks in the path, Peggy hesitated; the climb upward was certain to prove a tax on her ankle, carefully bandaged
 as it was, but the more level path led, as he knew, to Sundown's
 camp on Blind Man's Bluff.

She had given her word to Ob-adiah Evans not to go to the camp unaccompanied by one of the three men of her acquaintance in that part of the world. But the place drew her as a magnet.

Julia, not knowing the cause of her hesitancy, brushed past her.
 "Don't go that way, Julia."

Peggy's call stopped her maid as she was about to take the well-beaten track leading to Blind Man's Bluff. Julia halted, a somewhat mutinous pout on her lips.

"Ain't dat whar de pine trees
 we sees from Yew Lodge?" she asked. "I ain't nadder born on dat bluff."

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

There are two types of outfits that never have to be apologized for, and also never have to be changed, as the fashion folk may eagerly suggest the use of brown or a consideration of beige. These two are black and white. And even the combination of the two in the famous black and white effects might be added as a

Grace J. Austin, third costume plan which speaks plainly enough with its own voice, without explanations. Nevertheless, there seems to be an advancing popularity for white. It was noted last winter, even in evening gowns, and she who can compass a white fur evening wrap is fortunate. This pleasure in white touches the jewelry department, and white beads gain praise; it sounds delicate white china and glass into the shops; and even in face powder it comes forward rapidly to obliterate the sun-tanned skins which somehow do not seem so appropriate after the beach days are over.

As Dame Fashion looks lily down at her purple type-ribbon before her, it serves to remind her of how good the choice purple shades are becoming this season. No one says anything so simple as purple, however; the gown and its matching hat will be called "fuchsia"—or even, if a slightly more reddish tinge is chosen, it may be "fuchsia." Little girlhood's breathless admiration for the regally colored petals of an aunt's fuchsia plant comes to mind, with Dame Fashion, and makes her really covet a fuchsia dress. Purple started out by being a king's and queen's color—and something of the quality seems to stay within it.

Dame Fashion has some choice memories of the words and doings of certain women who always "looked best in purple" and its kin colors, softening down to orchid and gentle lavender. As the orchid is the aristocrat of flowers, so all of these purple colors bring with them a subtle suggestion of elegance. Have you ever noticed that when you choose a kitchen apron, it is apt to be true blue or happy pink, with never a thought of purple?

Just across from Dame Fashion the other day at a Daughters of the American Revolution luncheon sat a pleasant woman, much traveled in Europe and America. Around her neck was a silver-headed choker collar, such as was in fashion thirty-five years ago. But Dame Fashion knew better than to think it an heirloom, for she had just had a guest who had brought two similar ones with her. Both were gifts from friends who all independent of one another had bought them last summer in Paris.

Farm Board Aid For Ulster County

Grouping of fruit growers' cooperative associations of the Hudson Valley and western New York into a large central association or with the Orange League Federation in order to enable individual member associations to receive the benefit of loans under the recent farm relief act of Congress, may be effected early next year following conferences between the Federal Farm Board and Congressmen H. C. Pratt.

Congressman Pratt, whose district includes the rich fruit growing country of Ulster and who is one of two New York state members of the House of Representatives committee on agriculture, this week discussed the subject with Commissioner Charles S. Wilson of the Federal Farm Board. Wilson is former commissioner of agriculture of this state.

The move now under consideration is a plan about grouping of individual associations has apparently been suggested by the application of an Ulster county cooperative association for financial assistance under the agricultural marketing act approved by Congress and signed by President Hoover early in the special session of this Congress. Interested in the farm credit, State Department of Farm, Soil, Markets and Albert K. Kordt, Ulster county agricultural agent.

Under the newly created "farm relief" act, the Federal Farm Board is authorized to make loans to cooperative associations from the revolving fund set up, to aid in the effective merchandising of agricultural commodities and Mr. Wilson of the Federal Farm Board has stated to Congressman Pratt his belief that the evident purpose of the act is to assist in the creation of cooperative selling organizations that will handle sufficient volume to exercise a real influence in enabling the producer to get a fair price for what he produces. The Farm Board is, therefore, attempting to use the revolving fund to assist organizations to coordinate marketing activities, having in mind the building up of national marketing organizations that will work toward a solution of the marketing problems of all the farmers.

The Federal Farm Board, Mr. Wilson told Congressman Pratt, has felt constrained to urge local organizations desirous of qualifying for loans under the act to join with other similar organizations marketing the commodity in that particular section. There are several cooperative fruit growers' associations in the Hudson Valley, as well as some in western New York and it is highly probable a move will be made to coordinate the marketing activities of these organizations, following a survey by a representative of the New York State College of Agriculture or the Federal Farm Board.

MODENA

Modena, Dec. 12.—Many local members of the Ulster County Home and Farm Bureau attended the annual banquet and entertainment at Kingston, Wednesday evening. Even though the thermometer registered zero and accompanied, the highway embellished with ice, the faithful members journeyed to the place of gathering and enjoyed themselves heartily. Of such, is the spirit of cooperation.

From the continuance of the cold weather and the clinging tendency of the snow, hopes are entertained for a "white" Christmas, a happening which has not occurred for the past two years.

Members of the Modena unit of the Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. Seymour Terwilliger, Tuesday afternoon, when the art of flower making was demonstrated. Crepe paper was used in making poinsettias. Miss Marian Palmer of Ardena acting as instructress. Delicious refreshments were served. Those attending were: Mrs. C. SERGEANT LOCKHART GETS VERDICT FOR $1,267

Judge Charles E. Nichols, presiding at the December term of Supreme Court, directed a verdict in the sum of $1,267 and interest to Sergeant John Lockhart of Highland against Charles E. Rostwick in an action for specific performance of a contract involving a real estate transaction. In December, 1919, Sergeant Lockhart entered into an agreement to purchase for $105 a lot in Rochester, N. Y. Under the agreement certain payments were to be made, he was to pay taxes and certain other assessments. He testified that he had made such payments amounting to $1,267, but after meeting what he alleged was his part of the contract the defendant failed to give a deed for the property. An action for specific performance was begun. The defendant did not appear and no defense was offered. Judge Nichols at the conclusion of the testimony directed a verdict for the full amount plus interest to be computed. Harold A. Lent appeared for plaintiff.

Uses for Poppy Seed
Ancient Greece used poppy seed to season bread. Persians sprinkled the seed over their rice, and in India it is still used as a food and a sweetener. In France the seed is used in making a salad oil, often substituted for olive oil. Many nations use poppy seed to season breads and pastries. It is also used for a bird seed.

SEEK BODIES OF 1,200 U. S. VETS

Heroes of World War Lie in Unmarked Graves in France.

Paris.—Twelve hundred American doughboys still lie in unmarked graves scattered across the cold hills of France from the channel to the Vosges. Identification parties are still searching these lost graves, and hardly a week passes without one or more bodies being found.

Of the 120,585 men in the armed forces of the United States who died during the World war 38,794 are now buried in the American military cemeteries abroad. Thirty-seven bodies, found in lost graves during the summer by searching parties, have been transferred to the war cemeteries for burial in the alignment of white crosses.

Every Grave Marked.

In the eight war cemeteries the number of American soldier dead buried today follows:

Meuse-Argonne, Remagne	14,181
Chateau Thierry	6,818
St. Mihiel, Thiaucourt	4,181
Alme-Marne, Belles	2,278
Soissons, Reims	1,429
Brookwood, England	1,334
Flanders Field, Belgium	412
	318

Every grave is marked now with a permanent marker, either a cross or a star of David in white Carrara marble. The graves of unidentified soldiers, numbering about one-half of 1 per cent of the total burials, are marked with stones bearing the inscription: "Here lies in honored glory an American soldier known but to God."

The work of finding lost graves is growing more difficult with time. In the first few years after the war bodies were found in woods or turned up by plows of farmers as they reclaimed the battlefields for their crops.

Searching parties continue their work, however, except during the harvest season. These workers possess complete charts, which enable them to identify bodies even though they have been buried for more than eleven years.

Information relative to unlocated dead is generally received voluntarily through some comrade in arms who recalls, perhaps from a magazine or newspaper article, after several years, the approximate spot at which a soldier was killed or where he was buried. This work is carried out under the investigation and research branch of this service, which obtains all information possible from relatives and from other sources, generally sending to the person giving the information a contour map and requesting that the location in which the missing soldier is thought to have been killed be indicated thereon, and then a diligent search is made, generally with success. No definite identification is made unless it is positive, and this is done finally from the office of the quartermaster general in Washington.

A complete system of forms and charts is kept both in this office and in Washington, and positive identification (after preliminary identification by means of parts of uniform, personal belongings, identification tag, and so forth) is generally made from tooth charts or from certain peculiarities known to have existed, such as broken or fractured bones and so forth.

Buried as Unknown.

Identification and searching parties are working at present, principally in the Meuse-Argonne sector and in the Chateau Thierry-Soissons sector, but are moved to other sectors whenever information is received. Helpful information is received from French, British and German authorities. The bodies of unidentified soldiers, when found, are kept in the morgue at the nearest military cemetery until every means of identification has been exhausted. If identification is finally unsuccessful the body is buried as an unknown soldier. No cases are known to exist where there has been any doubt as to the identification as an American soldier.

Occasionally cases have occurred where the body of a soldier buried as an unknown has subsequently been identified through additional information furnished by relatives, friends, or comrades in arms, after a lapse of several years. When identification is positively established in this way a grave marker bearing the customary inscription is substituted for the unknown marker.

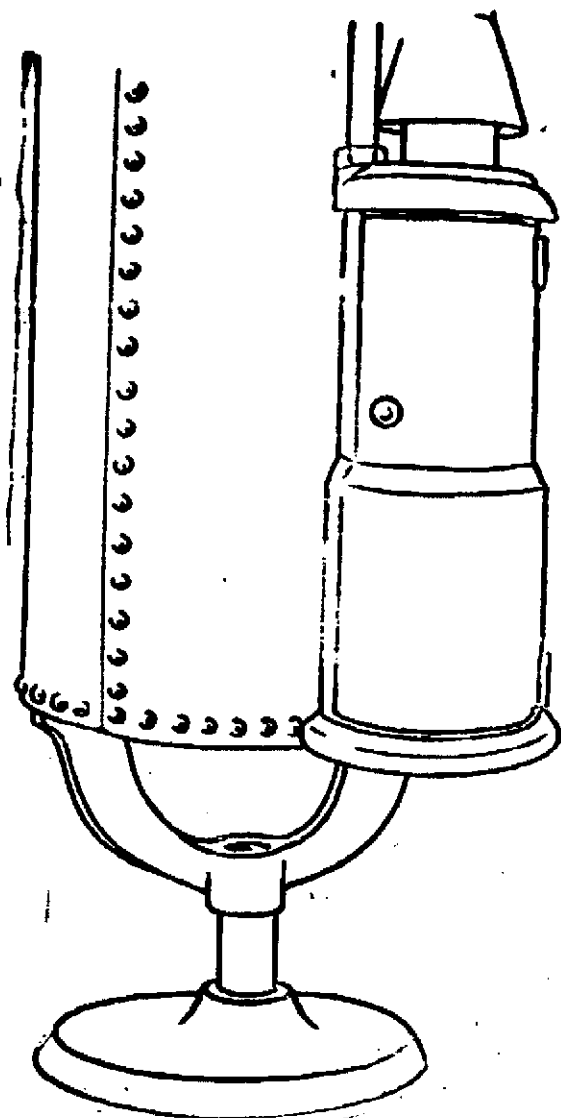

Polo Was Played in China 1,300 Years Ago

Peking.—American and British officers and civilians are chiefly responsible for a great revival of interest in Peiping in polo, a game which was played in China 1,300 years ago.

More than ten British, American and French teams from Peiping, Shanghai and Tientsin brought the polo season to a glorious conclusion with a grand tournament here.

Polo is a rich man's game in the West, but in Peiping a pony is worth $30, and a Chinese groom gets $10 a month, so that an ordinary salaried man can afford to play, with his own "string" of ponies. The tournament was held within sight of the Tartar walls, built by the Mongols who brought polo into China in 600 A. D.

Christiansen in Charge of Y. Troop

Once Christiansen was present Thursday night at the regular meeting of Troop 1, of the Y. M. C. A. Social, and under his supervision many new and interesting activities were planned. Twenty scouts were present at the meeting and after the troop was reorganized and new patrols formed, the boys set to work on various phases of the scouting program. Mr. Christiansen, the new Scoutmaster, was chosen last week by the troop committee of which W. M. Kline is chairman. He and the boys in the troop during the coming year. The committee believes that they have in Mr. Christiansen a man well qualified to take this position. Although he has had no actual experience with the Boy Scout program in the past, he has had a great deal in the way of being with the boys and in the United States. He has had charge of group programs in the Y. M. C. A. in Copenhagen, and had considerable experience and has acquired with personal work born in Y. M. C. A.'s past there and in this country. He has already familiarized himself with the Scout program and the boys in Troop 1 report that they already know him. His coming to the troop has put new life into it and the boys are expecting to make a fine showing at the mid-winter Scout camp, to be held some time in February.

Mr. Christiansen is taking charge of the troop because it has been working with boys. He has a sympathetic interest in each boy and is willing to give of his time to anyone in order to help him along with his work. His broad experience in going to help make the program successful. He has traveled over a great deal of Europe and most of the United States. A word conference of Scouts was held in Copenhagen at the time he was living there.

The troop has planned a trip out to the Y. M. C. A. Saturday, where the boys will do their good turn by cleaning the boat in the boat house. The trip will also give them a chance to work on their laws for building camp fire and making.

ESCAPES CHAIR BY LESS THAN AN HOUR

Oswego, N. Y., Dec. 11 (AP)—Saved by a reprieve less than an hour before the time set for his execution, Fred W. Edel today hoped to escape the electric chair through new evidence which his counsel said had been discovered.

Preparations were under way in the death house of Sing Sing prison for the execution of Edel, at 11 p. m. when Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt telephoned to Warden Lewis A. Lawes that he had granted a reprieve until December 16.

Edel is under sentence of death for the murder of Mrs. Emma Harrington, a former actress, whose body was found in her upper west-side apartment December 24, 1927. She had been beaten to death with a hammer.

A fur coat and some letters addressed to Mrs. Harrington were found in a room in New Haven, Conn., that had been occupied by Edel. Three months later Edel was arrested in St. Paul, Minn., by federal authorities and turned over to New York police.

He denied the crime and made no defense at his trial last February.

During his stay in the death house Edel has steadfastly maintained that he was innocent.

When informed by the Rev. Dr. Arthur Peterson, Protestant chaplain at the prison, that the governor had granted a reprieve, Edel exclaimed: "Thank God. I'm tickled with. The governor did the right thing. Thank God, chaplain, let us pray."

Let Opportunity Pass for Real Estate Profit

"It's astonishing," said the old vendor, "how real estate has advanced in this town since I came here. The corner lot this building is on, for instance, sold once for $450."

"Well, what is it worth now?" asked the stranger.

"Five thousand."

"Well, you had a chance to get rich by investing in land yourself. I suppose you bought some real estate?"

"Yes, I bought one lot—just one."

"That has increased in value, has it not?"

"Yes, more than 300 per cent."

"That was a good investment."

"No, so awfully good, indeed," said the old settler, gloomily. "I paid $20 for it and it's worth $75 now; but it is in the cemetery. The way I figure it, I've lost a heap of money by not doing forty years ago."

W. C. T. U. held Crusaders day on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Elton Tompkins.

D. of A. will hold Christmas tree for members and families, December 13, after session. Mrs. Shaeley and Mrs. Kurtz have charge, all to bring gifts, not to exceed ten cents.

George Schofield of Goshen gave a grand address upon the fraternity, the noble aims of the order and true purpose of real brotherhood of mankind. He is a very enthusiastic speaker and loyal to the order. Refreshments were served.

At last meeting of Ida McKinley Council, D. of A., the D. S. C., also D. S. C., Mrs. R. H. Decker, presented in well chosen words a gift of a beautiful bedspread to Mrs. Carrie Jordan, the faithful recording secretary in honor of her 40th wedding anniversary. This was an individual gift from her friends in the order. It was a great surprise and she accepted and responded in a very clever manner.

Christmas shopping is going on now and people from this place do a great deal in Kingston, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie. Several are making trips to New York city for greater opportunities are afforded in the large cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palmer have returned from a few days in Green County.

A very important meeting of the Auxiliary Club was held December 6, at the home of Mrs. James Callihan, in being the last meeting of 1929 and election of officers. The weather man did not give very fine weather but the staunch members were there nevertheless. Mrs. Callihan and Miss Dorothy Churchill were very courteous in running their cars to convey people to the home of the hostess and a large delegation was present. Business was dispatched readily and the slate is clear for 1930. The club contributed a nice sum for Christmas for the Sunday school and they expect to travel on the road of money raising as in the past. Fortunate in having such splendid people to give their time to serve the club. No matter what the office may be, it means work and sacrifice. The honor is hardly commensurate with the efforts required. Tuesday evening the O. E. S. in One new member, Mrs. Minerva Macker, was elected. The election of officers: President, Mrs. R. H. Decker, for her 31st year; first vice, Mrs. James Callihan; second, Mrs. Joseph Miller; third, Mrs. Loria Schantz; fourth, Mrs. Harry W. Maynard; fifth, Mrs. Walter C. Mellor, Mrs. L. Schantz, Mrs. J. Smodes; home committee, Miss Bertha Ginty; sunshine committee, Mrs. H. Weersma; membership committee, Mrs. Edvard Rhoads. Mrs. George Cornell. A social hour was enjoyed and the hostesses, Mrs. J. Callihan, Mrs. L. Osterhout, Mrs. Edison Dwyer, Jr., and Miss Dorothy Churchill served dairy and delicious refreshments which were greatly appreciated and expressions of pleasure were given these ladies at departure. It was a meeting long to be remembered by those fortunate enough to be present. Tuesday evening the O. E. S. installed two candidates. Work assembly, filled nicely, large attendance and of officers: President, Mrs. R. H. Decker, for her 31st year; first vice, Mrs. James Callihan; second, Mrs. Joseph Miller; third, Mrs. Loria Schantz; fourth, Mrs. Harry W. Maynard; fifth, Mrs. Walter C. ON FASHIONSTHE BLAISE SISTERS IN TIME
FOR CHRISTMAS

New York—The separate blouse, excepting as an adjunct to a tailored suit has been something of a step-child for some time. Simultaneous with the revival of the suit for all occasions, came naturally a throw back to the blouse. It now plays many parts, and is necessary in shirt-like aspect, in which case it tucks itself under the belt, and is frilly and highly feminized versions in key with costume and so-called "evening suits." One may hardly have too many blouses or have them in too many assortments of line or material. Crepe satins and laces express the formal, while poplin satins curiously enough is admitted also in circles sacred to sports. Who has not met up with it walking out with tweed?

One has a wide field in which to roam in search of color. The search starts, and often ends with such off white tones as are variously described as egg-shell, vanilla and ivory. Peach enters largely into wardrobes of the young and near-old and is not only an excellent town blouse color, but one which is repeated like a lovely refrain at the opera and in all advance southern collections. Both egg shell and peach are not only stunning with black but in particular accord with the several brown and green tones in current favor. They are also seen with the many reds which are being worn, so that it is not too much praise to place them ahead of white as the most desirable blouse color, whether one is thinking in tailored or formal terms. The most formal expression is however lame or metal cloth either plain or printed.

Calumet's
DOUBLE-ACTION

is bringing new baking success to millions of women

SUCCESS is so easy when you use Calumet Baking Powder. Biscuits rise to fluffy lightness... cakes are high and fine-textured—perfect!

For Calumet acts twice, not once. Its first action takes place in the mixing bowl, to start the leavening. Then in the oven, a second action occurs. A full, steady rising lifts the batter right up to the top of the pan and holds it until it is perfectly baked—even though you may not be able to regulate your oven temperature with perfect accuracy.

All baking powders are required by law to be made of pure, wholesome ingredients. But not all are alike in their action. Not all will give you equally fine results in your baking. Because of its exceptionally fine results, Calumet is the most popular baking powder on the market today, outselling every other brand.

Your grocer is now selling Calumet. Get a can today and bake a cake. Use only one teaspoon of Calumet to a cup of flour. This is the usual Calumet proportion and should be followed for best results—a real economy, too.

MAKE THIS TEST

See for yourself how baking powder acts—and how Calumet acts twice to make your baking better. Put two level teaspoons of Calumet into a glass, add two teaspoons of water, stir rapidly five times and remove the spoon. The tiny, fine bubbles will rise slowly, half filling the glass. This is Calumet's first action—the action that takes place in your mixing bowl.

After the mixture has rapidly stopped rising, stand the glass in a pan of hot water on the stove. In a moment, a second rising will start and continue until the mixture rises to the top of the glass. This is Calumet's second action—the action that takes place in your oven. Make this test today. See Calumet's Double-Action which protects your baking from failure.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

The H. C. of Hoss

Some time ago a contest was started in which working girls were asked to submit budget plans for incomes of $10 to $20 a week. And the plans submitted to date have shown that, despite a summer given over to the barefoot ball, stockings are the most important item in a girl's expenditure. One girl earning $10 a week submitted a budget calling for fifty-two pairs of hose a year. However, another girl who earns $20 said she needed only eight pairs a year. The majority of the contestants put their stocking needs at from twelve to thirty pairs. The controlling factor in all the budgets is the amount a girl has to pay for room and board. If she lives with her family she has a greater surplus than if she lives alone, and inevitably all that remains from food and lodging goes into clothing.

Proper Costume

He's a high pressure salesman. He cheerfully and callously admits that the stocks he sells may not be so good, but he doesn't care. "The people I sell to," he told me frankly, "aren't widows and orphans. They are well enough off to take a flyer once in a while—and if I don't sell them, some one else will."

Mining and oil stocks are this gentleman's specialty, for he has discovered that he is a splendid figure in boots and a four gallon hat. After making an appointment with a prospect, he fishes a beautiful pair of hand tooled boots and a huge sombrero out of his office locker, and puts them on. Then he goes after his customer. An assumed Texas drawl and the western clothing carry more weight than uninteresting data concerning dividends, earnings and what not.

Pastime

One way of having a good time has been discovered by one of the city's better known criminal lawyers. He was returning from Chicago the other day, and at Harmon, where the electric locomotives hitch on, the train was divided in two sections. The sections proceeded to race each other toward New York, traveling at a mile-a-minute clip on parallel tracks. The lawyer took great interest in the engineer of the other train, who seemed to remain stationary abreast the lawyer's window. The engineer looked rather bored, for running an electric locomotive is far less an adventure than piloting a snorting steam engine. So the lawyer handed the engineer a fistful of cigars with which to while away the time. Rules are rules, however, and the engineer didn't light up.

Tony Beggar

The theatrical district is the happy hunting ground for panhandlers, who ply their trade in the side streets during theater intermissions. Persons who have spent $10 or $12 on tickets for a good time on themselves rarely refuse a dime to a passing tramp.

But what I started out to tell was the story of a beggar who passed the steps of a very expensive hotel in the theater zone. A guest was standing on the steps, watching the crowd mill by, and the beggar asked him:

"Can you give me $2 for a cup of coffee?"

The man was amazed at such cheek. "Why," he said, "when I want a cup of coffee I get it at the Automat for a nickel."

"Then," asked the beggar, "what are you doing at this expensive hotel?"

Giant Fish Is Pulled

Ashore by Big Truck

San Francisco.—A whale-mouthed shark, believed to be the first of its kind ever caught in this district, has been brought to San Francisco from Point Reyes, where it was landed through the combined efforts of a heavy salmon hook and an automobile truck.

It was caught on the Point Reyes bench by an amateur fisherman who had baited his hook with a live sardine. The tug on his line almost pulled him into the water, but he was able to make it fast to a motor truck which pulled the giant fish ashore.

Weighing about 3,000 pounds and measuring 17 feet from tail-tip to nose, the shark is of that species in which the jawbone is constructed like that of a whale. It is declared to be of a peaceable nature, lacking the ferocity attributed to other sharks.

Two Colors in Film

New York.—When you watch a picture in colors you are actually seeing only two colors—green and orange. The lens in a color camera photographs only green and orange and other colors are variations of these two.

Broken Heart Kills After Death of Wife

London.—Death didn't part Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carroll. For a long time they had struggled together through this life, and at seventy-four Mrs. Carroll fell from a chair and died of resulting injuries. When her death was reported, the Carroll, son also reported the death of his father, who, it is thought, died of a broken heart over the loss of his wife.

Results of Education

The educated man is a man with certain subtle spiritual qualities which make him calm in adversity, happy when alone, just in his dealings, rational and sane in the fullest meaning of that word in all the affairs of life.—Benny MacDonell.

Hand Dictionary Good

Post Office for Cupid

Rather abruptly and without forethought, the head of the Hillsville high school made a startling discovery: namely, that a pleasant glow engulfed his heart at the mere mention of a certain instructor in his school. But what was he to do?

The school board turned "thumbs down" on such romances. Furthermore, love tangles in the school might lower the high standard of morals he was attempting to maintain among his charges.

Yet, despite barriers, the glow persisted until at last in desperation he dashed off these lines: "I must see you soon! Meet me in K— (a city near Hillsville) Friday night!" So slipped the note in a small hand dictionary on the lady's desk and nervously waited developments.

Later he returned and found an answer in the affirmative. That winter he made regular calls on "friends" in K—. And, although Hillsville prided itself upon its power of detection, it suspected nothing simply because one of its lady teachers spent many of her evenings in the city.

During March the two were married, but they decided it would be wiser not to disclose the news until commencement. How surprised Hillsville was: When had they done it?

The professor declared he had not once spoken a word to his wife of their romance when in Hillsville. True, they had held romantic communication there, often shockingly ardent on the professor's part, according to his wife, but not one spoken word. The little hand dictionary had remained their infallible Dan Cupid.—Capper's Weekly.

Successful Wife Knows

When to "Waste" Time

"Most wives," said Billings, "have to play comforter to their husbands for more reasons than you could strike a stick at. But I doubt if there is another wife in New York who has to pet and console for the reason that pops up in front of my friend, Mrs. Arnold about twice a year."

"What reason is that?" Bill asked. "Football!" said Billings.

"Did you say 'football'?" Bill asked.

"I did," said Billings. "My friend Arnold is the town's most rabid fan. And every time his team loses, he is made cheerful only when his wife tells him (in nothing less than half an hour) about all the rotten breaks that the team had."

"Do you really mean," Bill demanded, "that she lets the big stiff waste her time like that?"

"If you weren't a dumb bachelor," Billings said sagely, "you'd know that it's such wastes of time that make successful wives."—New York Sun.

Colonial Currency

During the Colonial period the colonists used the same currency as the mother country, designated in pounds, shillings and pence. While the money of account was for each colony a colonial pound, the actual money in circulation was a varied collection of coins of English, French, Portuguese and Spanish origin. The Spanish dollar was the most widely known and circulated, and it thus became the term by which the currencies of the Colonies were most readily compared. The Spanish dollar was common to all the Colonies, and it was the term in which later the common obligations were expressed by the Continental congress, and thus became the basis of our national coinage.

The chief objection to plain people is that some of them are so darned plain.

Asks Santa to Bring New Year

Sparta, Wis., Dec. 13 (AP).—Eight-year-old Doris Graw, whose mother is dead and father missing, wants Santa Claus to bring her a new nose. She wrote a letter to Santa which appeared in the Sparta Herald and which asked for only one gift—a nose. Doris lost her nose several months ago when a cupboard tipped over on her. County Judge H. A. Richards is playing Santa before Christmas eve. He has arranged for Doris to go to the Wisconsin General Hospital at Madison for treatment.

Chinese Product

The word "Lacina" is Chinese. This important clay was found on a group of hills called Kuo Ling, which meant high ridge.

 are to be completed.

Don't be superstitious because today is Friday the 13th. Things might be worse. Forget it and do your Christmas shopping.

Any father who has already worn out the little electric train still has time to go down town and buy another one for little Wubur.

And here's another one: "Ex-shade tints are appearing in smart lingerie." Gosh, what next?

Any woman can make a dollar go so far that her husband will never see it again.

Lady Passenger (to conductor):
 "Let me off at Lamar, please."
 Conductor: "We don't stop at Lamar, Ma'am. This is an express."
 Lady: "Well, can't you stop long enough for me to tell my husband
 I'm being carried through?"

On hearing that a gentleman is supposed to have a wardrobe of 20 suits, Ragson Tatters the well-known fellow about town, says that he was wearing parts of that many.

The newspaper editor who "strives to please" strives in vain.

Boss: "What does this mean?
 Your brother just phoned saying that you were sick and couldn't come to work today."
 Stenographer: "The big boob!
 Why, he wasn't supposed to call up till tomorrow."

The unkind are the wrong kind.

"Dear teacher," wrote the anxious Kingston mother. "I am afraid Johnny is not trying enough."
 "Dear madam," replied the harassed teacher, "I assure you that Johnny is quite trying enough. In fact, he is the most trying boy in the entire class."

The doctors say that infants must have regular rest hours and they might later decide that the same applied to the old folks.

The little girl's mother was very religious and also a strict dietitian. One day her aunt asked her, "What makes your curls so pretty?"
 "God, spinach and carrots," came the unexpected reply.

Another night has passed and now
 to my daily task once more I turn...
 You are today where your thoughts have brought you; you will be tomorrow where your thoughts take you... You cannot escape the result of your thoughts, but you can endure
 and learn to accept and be glad.
 ...You will realize the vision (not the idle wish) of your heart, be it base or beautiful; or a mixture of both, for you will always gravitate towards that which you secretly must love... Into your hands will be placed the exact results of your thoughts; you will receive that which you earn; no more, no less...
 Whatever your present environment
 may be, you will fail, remain, or so rise with your thoughts, your vision, your ideal. You will become as small or as big as your dominant aspiration.—James Allen.

Hal: "What is your brother in college?"
 Art: "A halfback."
 Hal: "I mean in studies."
 Art: "Oh! In studies he's away back."

Let's just have one more of these marathon contests and see who can tend to his own business the longest.

Mother: "Johnny, you've been fighting again. What is that bruise on your head?"
 Johnny: "I wasn't fighting at all.
 That was a mistake."
 Mother: "A mistake?"
 Johnny: "Yes, I was sitting on that little mule Bertie this morning, and I forgot to hold his feet."

The wife who lets her husband get his own meals never trusts him to go his own thinking, however.

Vare Feels Effect Of Recent Ordeal

Philadelphia, Dec. 12.—The physical and mental strain of recent days has caused William S. Vare to take to his bed in Atlantic City.

He was described by his principal physician, Dr. Ellwood E. Kirby, as suffering only from "extreme fatigue and depression" brought about by his ordeal in Washington last week when he was denied a seat in the Senate and a long auto. ride to attend the funeral of Representative W. M. Gillet.

Dr. Kirby, who has been Vare's personal physician since he was stricken with paralysis of the left side in August, said his patient's condition was not serious, but that he would have to remain in bed for a while to get his strength back.

The doctor said he would be able to make his patient walk again in a few days. He said that the Republican nomination at the primary in May provided he needed "common sense" in the campaign.

"His political activities will have to be somewhat curtailed," Dr. Kirby declared, "but he can get into the fight. I shall prevent any arduous activities or one-night stands."

Despite his emphatic statement that he was rejected by the Senate, he was "in the fight to the finish," there is a feeling among Mr. Vare's close friends here that he will be persuaded to retire from the primary contest. Should he decline to do so, it is freely predicted that the Philadelphia Republican organization will be badly split by the contest and that followers of Grundy may gain control of the party machinery.

AT THE THEATRES

Today.

Kingston: "The World" claim still, but what Helen Kane does to Jack Oakie is food for the thoughts of any young man. And then there's Nancy Carroll as nice as the title. Broadway: "The Picture of Dorian Gray" a real mystery thriller, with Olive Brook and his English accent lifting the picture far above the average. Brooks has no peer in the detective field.

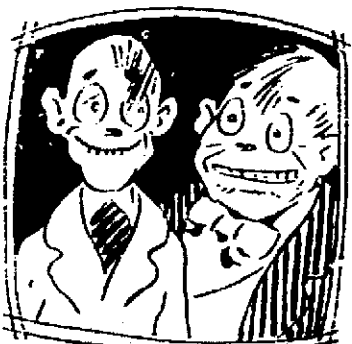

Orpheum: "Hallelujah," a "man" story with that old conception of the silver screen. Robert Donat, still showing the possibilities of a thing or two.

Tomorrow.

Kingston: "Applause," Helen Morgan as the woman with a purpose, so strong that she sacrifices everything to attain it. Miss Morgan's personality stands out and overshadows other members of the cast.

Broadway: Same. Orpheum: "Dark Streets," with a notable cast including Shirley Mason, Wallace McDonald, Tom O'Brien and Larry Steers.

TWO DAYS LATE

THE WORST OCEAN VOYAGE

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—After a voyage which their shippers were the worst in their long experience, the French liner Berengaria of the Caspary Line Berengaria is in port today, two days late. Both ships ran into the storm a few hours after leaving the coast of Spain and battled it for several days. A blinding snow storm, accompanied by a wind that reached 50 miles an hour, kicked up waves estimated to have been fully fifty feet high.

The Berengaria had eight windows smashed on the upper promenade deck, two ventilators carried away, and a steel bulkhead sixty feet above the water line bent. On her arrival a repair gang of 140 men was put to work to put the ship in shape for sailing at midnight tonight.

Five passengers and one sailor cook on the Berengaria suffered from seasickness. Charles Heintz, born 21 years old, a passenger, died of heart failure brought on by sea sickness and nervousness. The France escaped damage.

Not all animals have mouths. Parasitic animals, notably the tapeworm, lack a system for digesting food, the food being absorbed through the body surface. "Speech" belongs to a type which has no mouth in the ordinary sense, food being taken in at any part of the surface.

Dr. Falk Isolates Influenza Germ

Is of the Pleomorphic Streptococcus Type—Maps Discovery May Lead to Control of the Disease.

Chicago, Dec. 12 (AP)—A 35-year-old scientist, Dr. Isadore S. Falk, of the University of Chicago, has announced the successful isolation of the germ that causes influenza.

Dr. Falk, professor of hygiene and bacteriology, began his search for the influenza germ a year ago yesterday, and succeeded in isolating it September 20. During the course of the experiments, it was learned, the 13 co-workers, as well as Dr. Falk himself, were victims of the disease they sought to conquer.

With the announcement of isolation of the germ, hope was expressed that vaccine or anti-toxin might be developed that would bring influenza and certain types of common colds and bronchitis under control.

The influenza germ, Dr. Falk said, is of the pleomorphic streptococcus type, resembling a string of pearls not well matched, such as "might have been strung by a child." The germs colonize in clumps, rough and smooth. The rough clumps are the more virulent, Dr. Falk said. The smooth ones, he believes, produce common colds of the sore throat type.

Some of the germs he designates as "smooth" are to be found in normal throats, the experiments showed. Samples of the blood and throat culture of one of his assistants, Miss Ruth A. Kenny, were used at the start of the experiments. These revealed many varieties of germs. After continued investigation, suspicion centered upon one, and experiments were conducted with it, convincing Dr. Falk that this was the germ responsible for the disease.

The germ, Dr. Falk said, will not prove fatal in itself, but the disease for which it is responsible weakens the patient in many cases so that he falls victim to other, and deadlier, germs.

With the isolated germ Dr. Falk and his associates conducted experiments on small animals, producing in them a disease similar to the influenza that attacks human beings.

Dr. Falk was careful to point against too great hope from the discovery.

"In research for specifics for some diseases, isolation of the germ is 75 per cent of the battle," he said. "It remains to be seen whether that is true in this fight. Experiments in quest of such a specific are now being carried on."

It is Dr. Falk's opinion that a vaccine may be developed which sprayed in the throat will cure influenza. Development of anti-toxin also is to be sought. Indications that the germ produces a toxin that may be combated with anti-toxin are found, he said, in the fact that a person who has had influenza is immune to it several weeks after recovery.

Research work in quest of the influenza germ has been carried on at the University of Chicago since 1918.

Personal Pronouns

An authority on correct English speaks as follows in regard to the position of personal pronouns connected by the conjunction: "When two or more personal pronouns in the singular are connected by 'and,' the second precedes the first and the third and the third person precedes the first. When the pronouns are used together in the plural number, the first person precedes the second and the third, and the second person precedes the third."

Sampere vs. Wyms, Armory Curtain Raiser

Captain E. C. Lawson, director of the armory bouts, who on Thursday had the card for Friday, December 20, completed with the exception of the four-round curtain raiser, announced late last night that he had things almost arranged for a starter that promises to be as thrilling a battle as any that ever went on in the old drill hall.

Jerry Sampere of Poughkeepsie and Charlie Wym of West Point, are the two starfighters whom Lawson has slated to be opponents in the bout. He has already procured referees, who is anxious to arm Wym. Charlie had not signed up until late today but it was expected that before the day was over he would arrive to exchange halloos with Jerry on December 20.

Fight fans who have read about the card that is to be staged likely will find the Sampere-Wym tilt as the shining touches on a real artistic bit of matching done by Jimmy Mahoney of New York and Captain Lawson. Both tried their best to make up a nice program that will not be unproductive. Everyone is of the opinion that the next armory card will be hard to beat anywhere.

The main event, an eight rounder between Nick Zappa of the city and the city Harry Mahoney of New York, is receiving much attention. Fans seem to think that it will be one of the most outstanding attractions ever put on in the arena and the way that it is being conducted gives promise that there will be a record crowd out to see it.

However, it is not the only bout in which the fight fans are interested. They are inclined to believe that the semi-final of eight rounds between Johnny Blaine and Charlie Molloy, both of this city, will be well worth watching. Both boys are hot after a win and promises to fight at top speed throughout the tilt.

Other bouts on the card are a six rounder between "Kid" Buchanan of this city and Eddie McKenna of the Fighting 69th Infantry; Roy Van Buren, Kingston vs. Eddie Ziegler, New York, and the curtain raiser between Jerry Sampere and Charlie Wym, which completes the 22-round program.

Reserved seats are on sale at the armory now, and those who wish their choice are advised to arrange for them as early as possible.

Spinny Radio Five Win Over Po'keepsie Team

The Spinny Five of Poughkeepsie, which triumphed in the Radio Five event at the armory recently, were defeated Thursday night by the city team in the final round of the tournament. The Spinny Five, who had won the tournament in the first round, were defeated by the city team in the final round of the tournament.

The Radio Five played its best game of the season. At times the Spinny Five was called by Port's short supply of substitutes. The Radio Five team, which was defeated by the city team in the final round of the tournament, was defeated by the city team in the final round of the tournament.

First Quarter. Poughkeepsie went into the lead just after the opening whistle. Soloway found the hoop from the side of the court. Then it appeared that Port was going to have it hands full. As quick as that, however, Soloway made a foul and Van Ethen took a lead in a row. Soloway caused another foul making the score 4-5 but this was the last time it was ever that close for Spinny's team steadily drew away and went up to 13 while Poughkeepsie reached 8 points as the quarter ended.

Second Quarter. There was little scoring in this period and the points that were gathered were mostly those of the Radio Five. Poughkeepsie contented itself with a field goal in the middle of the quarter and that was all they managed to get. On the other hand Port continued to a steady game from all standpoints. Van Ethen, Joyce, Hyatt and A. Short all tallied either from scrimmage or from the foul line. These boys were directly responsible for bringing the score up to 21 points. The score at the quarter came to a close was 21 to 10 in Port's favor.

Third Quarter. The third quarter saw the Port Ewen team still retain their substantial lead of 10 or 11 points. For a while in the early part of this period it was just a score for a score. Poughkeepsie wasn't getting any further ahead but Port was holding its lead in great style. When the end of this stanza came around Port led, 21 to 29.

Fourth Quarter. The last period as all previous were in favor of Port Ewen. Poughkeepsie tallied now and then but their scoring was enough to make the game carry interest. Nevertheless, Port Ewen was playing a splendid game of basketball and it was well worth watching. Poughkeepsie still had 25 marks in their scoring column when Port was up around the total of 40 points. It was still Soloway that was doing most of the down-river team's point collecting. He was their best scoring player Poughkeepsie had on the court. His efforts proved fruitless when the final whistle blew and Port led 42 to 28.

Coming Games. Saturday night Spinny's Five will play in Rhinebeck, and next Thursday night at the Knights of Pythias Hall in Port Ewen the Radio Five will play Monticello.

Fast Games Are Expected Tonight At the Armory

Benny Borgman and his Paterson Crescents will try their best to take a fall out of the Rochester Centrals tonight when the two squads appear at the local armory in the second big league basketball game of the season.

It is the desire of the Paterson outfit to put the boots to the Centrals, who overcame the highly touted Renaissance club last week at the local drill shed. The job is a big one, as fans who saw last week's tilt will vouch, so the game promises to be one that will thrill all.

Guy Beckwith and "Chief" Muller, the two Poughkeepsie sportsmen, who are sponsoring the weekly big games here, expect a large turnout of fans to tonight's court war. They are encouraged by the advance sale of tickets and believe that a bigger crowd than that which saw the Rochester vs. Renaissance game, will be on hand.

The promoters lay the big advance sale to the fact that the famous Benny Borgman, member of the former Kingston team of the old Metropolitan League, will be on hand. Benny is now with the Paterson Crescents, whose winning ways he is boasting in every game.

Benny, who is tossing 'em in from all angles this year, will work with the following Crescents: Bollerman, former Passaic high school star; "Blaze" Barlow, Bob Grody, and Sig Makofski, of the old Kingston team. Rochester will depend upon Artus, Kinzing, Rabin, Marry, Chermadia and Hearn, the tallest center in the American League.

A preliminary will be put on by the Roamers and the local A. T. & T. Five. After the games there will be dancing. John P. Ernie's Imperial Orchestra will furnish music.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould,
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The case of the Army this year illustrates how little difference there is between being one of the pacifists or a member of the rear-guard in college football.

If just a few "breaks" had come the way of the Army, the whole story might have been different. If the long dashes of such young men as Booth of Yale, Wolgast of Illinois and Elder of Notre Dame could have been prevented, West Point might be singing the praises of an unbeaten team instead of consoling Captain Red Cagle and his mates.

The margin of missed tackles was not much, perhaps a matter of inches, but in each case it meant the difference between victory and defeat for one of the best Army teams developed in many years.

No one who witnessed the soldiers' thrilling stand against one of the greatest football machines in the country, Notre Dame, came away with anything but admiration for the stamina, courage and ability of the 11 cadets who played through the entire 60 minutes of action on a frozen gridiron.

John Nertz Murrel of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, home of extraordinary athletic talent, played one of his greatest games of a four-year career at West Point against Notre Dame. When Cagle didn't carry the ball, Murrel did. The plunging fullback did not get off a poor punt all afternoon, actually out-punting the All-America quarterback, Frank Carideo.

On that particular bitter afternoon Cagle and Murrel individually and collectively outshone any member of the famous Irish backfield troop.

"Do not overlook the Irish situation in that Army game," writes a Notre Dame observer. "To say they were lucky to beat the soldiers is to disregard the facts. Notre Dame went through the toughest schedule of any college in the country. Throughout it was necessary to keep the team close to the peak for every team the Irish met 'shot the works.' You admit Army played its greatest game of the year against them, which makes the Notre Dame victory all the more notable. The team had lost Tim Moryahan and if you think he wasn't a great center, ask the Army scouts. Tim just about ruined Southern Cal. Perhaps the Irish were

JACKIE FIELDS TO MEET "GORILLA" JONES

Boston, Dec. 13 (AP).—Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, will defy the "Jinx" that trails titleholders in this city tonight in a clash with the hard-punching "Gorilla" Jones of Akron, Ohio, in a non-title bout at the Boston Garden.

Five champions have come to grief in this city during the past year but this series of mishaps has not worried Fields. It has, however, caused considerable thought among those who wager on boxing contests, as there are enough Jones admirers hereabouts to shorten the odds to 10-9 on the champion.

Fields is confident that his terrific left hook, which won him the title from Joe Dundee recently, will be as effective against the Akron negro. The latter, however, has an idea that the champion is a weak against a short right hook, a favorite blow.

McLarnin at Garden Tonight

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).—Some 20,000 spectators are expected to watch Jimmy McLarnin and Ruby Goldstein punch each other around in a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The bout seems to be a "natural." If there ever was one, as it brings two of the heaviest punchers in the welterweight division and some of the most spectacular milling of the season is in prospect.

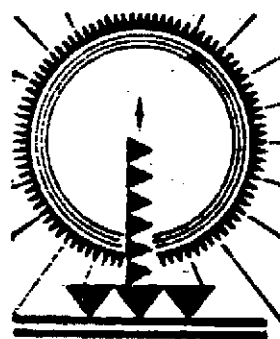

The less optimistic of fight observers remember a certain night in March of this year when McLarnin and Ray Miller packed in $200,000 worth of spectators and then put on one of the dullest fights most of the fans present ever had witnessed. McLarnin was a cautious worker that night and did not increase his reputation with the decision victory he received.

Goldstein is just such another dangerous puncher as Miller and the ghetto idol may force Jimmy to adopt more safe and sane tactics.

Goldstein appeared headed for the lightweight title a year or so ago but knockouts by Sid Terris and Ace Hudkins sapped his confidence and came within an ace of sending him to theistic scrap heap. A fast and brilliant boxer, with dynamite in either fist, Goldstein has won 55 of his 66 bouts by knockouts.

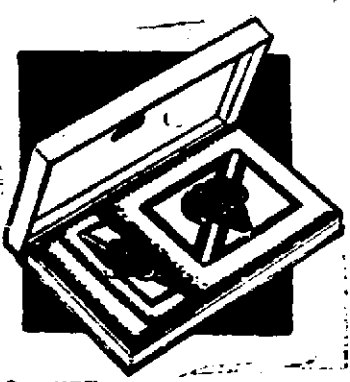

McLarnin is a 9 to 5 favorite among the betting fraternity today. Andy Cullahan, Boston lightweight, meets Louis (Kid) Kapian, of Meriden, Conn., former world's featherweight champion, in the ten-round semi-final. Canada Lee, one of the best negro welterweights in the east, tackles Andy Divodi of New York in the first ten.

A victory for Jones would add greatly to his prestige and rudely disrupt a Chicago promoter's plans to match Fields and Jackie Thompson, another negro welterweight, for a title bout in that city next month.

University of Iowa Cleans House

Chicago, Dec. 13 (AP).—The University of Iowa's action in declaring ineligible athletes who benefited by the athletic fund has brightened its prospects of early readmission to athletic competition in the western conference.

Frederic Woodward, vice president of the University of Chicago, and its representative on the faculty committee, said Iowa should be given an early hearing if it files notice of an appeal.

Professor O. F. Long, Northwestern's representative, said the action had placed Iowa in "a favorable light," and he indicated he anticipated the committee would visit Iowa City soon to review the situation.

Professor Ralph Aigler of Michigan indicated a renewal of Iowa's plea would be favorably received by the committee.

At the annual University of Wisconsin football banquet last night Athletic Director George Little insisted on the term "Big Ten," saying he hoped and believed that Iowa would be restored within a reasonable length of time.

"Y" to Play Westfield Team

Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. court the Senior team, led by Captain Chet Fox, will try its hand against the Westfield, Mass., team that last year threatened to break up the renowned Chandler's winning streak.

The game will be a snappy affair, it is said, for the boys from the east are anxious to trim a Kingston team, especially the Y. M. C. A. Seniors, whose playing roster contains the names of several former Chandler stars.

There will be a preliminary between the Colonials and the Arrows. It will start at 7:30 and will be followed by the feature at 8:30.

WAITED TWO WEEKS, THEN FOUND GUN WAS EMPTY

Minneapolis, Dec. 13 (AP).—Policeman John C. Nordgaard, had spent every night for two weeks behind a counter in the Arthur Charley grocery, waiting for a bandit.

Last night a holdup man made his fourth visit to the store in six weeks. Officer Nordgaard raised his shotgun, took careful aim and pulled the trigger.

The hammer fell on an empty chamber. The robber escaped with $50.

GIL SAMPSON TIES LEVENTHAL'S 236 SCORE

Gil Sampson, who spent the evening at Colonial Bowling Alley, North Front street, Thursday, spilled the pins for 236 in a single game, tying Rubie Leventhal for the month's high score. Leventhal, it is expected, will try to better the mark. Sampson has hit the 200-mark in 24 games out of 40 rolled.

Catskill Will Come Tonight

The Kingston High School Varsity basketball team will not go to Catskill tonight. Instead, the Catskill boys will come to Kingston, owing to a change in the schedule, and meet the local team at the high school gym.

Students at the local school have welcomed the change in courts and it is expected that a large number will be at the high school tonight to see the varsities match their brand of playing. A fast and interesting game is promised.

Coach Kias has confidence that his boys will show up in winning form against Catskill tonight. Practice sessions since their 22-24 box to the Hoosiers have put the team in good shape for tonight's tilt.

HIGHLAND MEETS LIBERTY TONIGHT

Tonight at Smith's Hall, Highland, the Hose Company team of that place will mix it with the Liberty Emeralds in a race game that promises to produce plenty of action. Many are expected to witness it.

Peiping Prohibits Minors From Pulling Rickshaws

Peiping, China.—One of the saddest sights in Peiping—that of small boy-pulling rickshaws—will disappear in the near future, if a municipal regulation just imposed is enforced. The regulation forbids boys under eighteen years old from pulling rickshaws. Foreigners rarely if ever patronize the child ricksha pullers. But Chinese who do use them because they are cheaper generally appear to be the heaviest of their kind.

EXCEPTIONALLY HEAVY RAIN FOLLOWS UNUSUAL DROUGHT.

San Francisco, Dec. 13 (AP).—Meteorological disturbances moving westward from the Pacific had promise of more rain today for the far west, where the drought ending storm yesterday exacted tribute in damage to railroads, interrupted air-mail schedules and impeded highway travel.

In Northern California, streams which had been trickles less than a month ago became torrents, rivers rose by the foot and heavy snows fell in the high mountains.

Airports and air travel were seriously handicapped north and east of San Francisco.

Exceptionally heavy rains fell in Kentucky, where there was a precipitation of 11.65 inches over a 24-hour period. At Black Creek, Indiana county, 30 inches were recorded in three days.

Salmon eggs for hatching purposes numbering 12,588,799 were taken from the Columbia river this year.

Forbids Stories

Albie Booth's venture into the sports writing field has run the Yale quarterback about of the university rule regarding the writing of signed articles on sport.

Although Booth declares he had received permission from Head Coach Mal Stevens, John B. Cates, director of athletics at the university said: "I have ordered Booth to write no more articles under his signature. We will not allow him to continue and we will not permit any more of that sort of thing in the future."

ANIMALS STILL NEEDED BY MAN

Modern Civilization Has Daily Contacts With Variety of Beasts.

New York.—To a modern New Yorker, whose every contact, it seems to us, is guided, eased and made possible by mechanical or scientific contrivances far removed from nature or the animal kingdom, the recently designed employment of police dogs to track a burglar in Staten Island appeared at once ludicrous and anachronistic.

Yet if one looks about dispassionately in the course of one's daily life one finds that dogs and many other animals are still a part and parcel of up-to-date existence for even the most cosmopolitan of persons.

Animals, now, as 100,000 years ago, provide food, clothing, companionship, amusement and, in many cases, protection for a vast majority of the earth. Of late they, in the great and often unnumbered field of vivisection, have been the means, and often the sole means, of learning the causes of some of the most loathsome and fearful diseases that have afflicted mankind.

During the World War both the allies and the Germans used dogs—the Germans police dogs—to locate wounded men in No Man's Land, to carry dispatches, to carry Red Cross bandages, to carry food and surgical instruments in places of extreme danger. Many a soldier owed his life to a faithful dog, who, carrying nothing but a sharp-edged harness or gas attack, ran swiftly to his aid, either helping him behind his own lines or summarily attacking.

Record of Pigeons.
The splendid record of war pigeons, some of whom were decorated for bravery by the allied governments—one of them received a Victoria Cross—the highest military honor in the British Empire—is too well-known to need more than casual repetition. Pigeons, sometimes wounded grievously by enemy bullets, carried secret war messages great distances from and to the "trench battle" lines. Pigeons, although somewhat supplanted by radio, are still maintained by most of the armies of the world, including that of the United States.

Contrary to the popular belief cavalry was employed to good advantage in the war. Especially in the British army.

Cavalry today is an integral part of every modern army and as long as wars last, army men predict, it will be used and needed as much as any other branch of the service. Wherever artillery is used—and it is used in every army in the world—horses are considered an essential means of transportation.

In the arts of peace the horse still has his place, even on the pavements of New York, whereon each morning, before daylight, horses draw milk wagons through the silent, gloomy streets. On farms, on Western ranches, on the race track, at the horse show, in the stables of the rich, to the hunting field, horses maintain their places. In polo, a popular sport, they are used, as they are for work throughout the nation and the world.

Dogs, however, go where horses cannot. In Little America, Antarctica, the dauntless Eskimo dogs are working side by side with Commander Byrd and his band of fearless followers. There they are the sole means of transportation when the weather prevents airplane flights. Without them the expedition would fail, as without them neither the North nor the South pole could have been discovered.

As watchdogs, dogs are still used wherever women and children wait in lonely places while their menfolk are away. Dogs still guard sheep, accompany lone wayfarers in far countries, protect children at play and aid man in one of his favorite sports hunting.

It is in the prevention of disease that many animals, including dogs, sheep, guinea pigs, rats, cats, apes, gorillas, rabbits and mice are invaluable. For without these animals as subjects for vivisection numerous diseases would still be scourging mankind unchecked.

Curiously enough some of the diseases which were most rife among the animals themselves, such as rabies, have been checked through experiments upon them. According to a recent pronouncement of Lord Dawson of Penn, King George's physician in his late illness, until experiments had been made upon dogs 80 per cent of them which were attacked by malignant jaundice were killed by that disease. Now, said Lord Dawson, dogs are practically immune from death from that affliction, if properly treated.

Examples of Their Use.
As long ago as 1621 Harvey, the discoverer of blood circulation, used dogs in his experiments and as recently as the discovery of insulin as a cure for diabetes dogs were used. No other animal, it is said, is better for the study of heart disease. Flats and guinea pigs are known everywhere to be invaluable for vivisection of all kinds.

Cats, too, are often used for vivisection purposes, and apes and gorillas are used to find the cure for certain diseases.

So important are dogs considered in most civilized communities that special laws regarding them have been made, many of them requiring muzzling as much to protect other dogs as humans.

Every so often one reads of the fashion of monkey-carrying being the vogue again in Paris, New York or elsewhere. Many laugh at this but the fair owners aver that the animals are companionable and intelligent. Tame alligators are sometimes fed about on leashes in our Florida resorts by young women who enjoy the novelty, and even reindeer are occasionally exhibited as pets in the more northern cities of the American continent.

Circuses and animal vaudeville acts continue to flourish and with them and inseparable from them, despite the hurly-burly modernism of present-day life, one finds every variety of performing beast imaginable. There are the trained sea-lions, who flip-flop as of yore in and out of their tanks, the performing bears, the acrobatic elephants, the tight-rope walking dogs. There are also the dressed-up cats, the fleet horses, the dancing ponies and various other trained animals.

Animals in Transportation.

Horses are not the only means of animal transportation extant in the Twentieth century. In India, Arabia, Persia and other nations of the Far East, elephants continue to bear upon their backs the potentates and princes who look, dress and act very much as they did thousands of years ago. Elephants are also used as hunting points of vantage for tiger treks in Hindustan jungles.

In many European countries oxen continue to bear the burden of plowing, without which the nations could not survive. In Siberia, Manchuria and other less progressive Asiatic countries, oxen draw the carts which take the place of American or European automobiles.

In sport animals play a great part. In America there are dog races, horse races that draw their millions, and, without the law, cock fights that still fascinate their thousands. The custom in cock fights is to meet in some secluded place where the fight is held, the roosters being armed with jagged spurs. Large bets are placed on such treacherous contests and the cocks are put through a rigorous course of training beforehand.

Abroad hunting, requiring the use of dogs and horses, is even more popular than here. In Africa no expedition is complete without its complement of dogs. Bull-fighting, thought by many Anglo-Saxons to be a dying sport in Latin countries on both sides of the Atlantic, is said to be more popular than ever. Thousands, including the leading citizens and officials of the communities in which they are held, turn out weekly to witness the stirring contests between men and beasts.

Zoos still flourish and are visited alike by enthusiastic children and adults as well.

Wild animals as well as tame are popular as moving picture "actors," evidence of this having been recently demonstrated when a world-famous lion toured the United States in a vast, gilded motor-cage. At every cross-roads people crowded to gain a view of the leonine hero of the silver screen. Dogs, naturally, are the most popular heroes of the animal kingdom on the screen, although horses run them a close second. The salaries paid to the owners of some of these noted animals for their use in screen subjects is said to be in three figures each week.

Animals provide nearly every stitch of every garment worn by man, woman and child today, as in days gone by. Leather, wool, silk—these are but three essential clothing ingredients that come from the bodies or hair or efforts of animals. Horses, cats, rabbits, seals, lions, tigers, birds, all provide clothing and adornment for human beings.

The woman with her fur, the man with his business suit, the child with his elderdown quilt, all owe to some animal their clothing or nearly all of it. In sport we have the expression "pinking" for football, the academic "sheepskin" for diploma, showing the close inter-relationship between man and beast.

Their Use as Food.

In the world of food the flesh and products of animals are paramount. If a man orders ham and eggs he eats the flesh of pigs and the product of chickens. If he drinks a thick, delicious soup, nine times out of ten there is some meat in it, usually from cattle. The rarest delicacies are usually of animal origin.

The Chinese are said to esteem rats as food, and it is said that even in sophisticated New York horse-flesh is sometimes sold for roast beef or lamb. All manner of strange foods from animals is served throughout the foreign world.

Animals, too, provide livelihoods for innumerable men everywhere. Men devote their lives to training racing horses, to riding them, to putting winners in the races in which they participate, to treating them when they are sick, to trading them, to buying and selling them, to judging their points in shows, to writing about them for newspapers and fiction magazines. Dogs, too, have their retinue of trainers, veterinarians, judges and fanciers, and for both dogs and horses great prizes are sometimes paid. Cats also have their following.

In fiction, as has been suggested above, many writers gain their bread by writing about animals. One well-known writer, who lives in New Jersey, writes of nothing but dogs. He is famous for his dog yarns and has a large following, which nets him a more than substantial yearly income.

"Are modern maids cold blooded?" asks the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette. Judging by the amount of clothing they get along with, or rather without, they are anything else but.

A professor at a farm college finds that by mixing a little iron rust with its feed a cow is benefited. Little by little we may be coming to a solution of the used razor blade problem.

Now that a person can get almost anywhere in a little while, somebody ought to invent something to do after arriving that will be more interesting than turning around to go back again.

"A. E. F." writes to say that the scientists who found that smokers discard their cigarettes when they are an inch and a quarter long have probably not had a Parisian taxi driver under observation.

Marmoset Attraction Pet

Marmosets are small South American monkeys, with long soft fur, and somewhat resembling squirrels. The common marmoset has a black head with long white ear tufts, and its tail is banded black and white. It is said to make an attractive pet, being gentle and fairly intelligent, but is delicate in captivity.

Kennoch Dropped Dead Thursday Vets' Book Sale

Acting Janitor of Jewish Community Center Was About to Shovel Walk on Post Street When Struck With Heart Attack--Funeral Monday.

William W. Kennoch, of 179 Highland avenue, acting janitor of the Jewish Community Center on lower Broadway, dropped dead while about to shovel off the walk on Post street Thursday evening. Coroner W. Norman Connor, who was called, gave the cause of death as heart trouble, and the body was taken in charge by undertaker James V. Halloran and removed to his undertaking parlors on Broadway.

Mr. Kennoch for many years had been employed by the Ulster & Delaware railroad, but recently, owing to the weakened condition of his heart, he had resigned his position with the railroad to take up lighter work, and was employed as janitor at the Community Center.

He had been working about the building during the early hours of the evening and appeared to be in his usual health. Later in the evening he decided to shovel the snow from the walks in the rear of the building on Post street, and was at work when he suddenly dropped to the ground.

Mr. Kennoch was a man who was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He is survived by his wife, one son, William W. Kennoch, Jr., a sister, Mrs. Charles Diamond of New York, and a brother, George Kennoch of New York. Funeral services from the late residence Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Montrose cemetery.

Rain and Heavy Fog in the East

(By The Associated Press.)

The cold wave lifted over most of the Eastern States today and snow and ice rapidly disappeared with rising temperature. Rain fell in place of snow, however, and a heavy fog shrouded cities along the Atlantic coast.

Temperatures at 8 a. m. ranged from 32 in Albany to 44 at Atlantic City. Pittsburgh had the highest, at 56 degrees. The mercury registered 56 at Boston, but the temperature was lower farther north in New England.

Transportation facilities, crippled by the cold and snow, still were in a hampered condition with slush and slippery roads delaying automobile traffic and icy and slick rails impairing trolley service.

Coastal shipping was delayed and trains ran behind schedules in many sections due to the fog. The weather bureau forecast rain and rising temperature throughout tonight and tomorrow in all sections of New England, New Jersey and New York.

BOOTHS AT POLICE BALL WELL PATRONIZED

One of the centers of attraction at the Police Ball was the flower booth which was in charge of Miss Anne Heaney, who was also the chairlady of the one at the ball last year. Miss Heaney had a corps of pretty young ladies selling flowers about the armory and they found willing purchasers. Other articles which found a ready sale at this booth were cigars, cigarettes and candy. A goodly sum was realized from Miss Heaney's booth, and many compliments about the booth decorations were heard at the ball.

The refreshment booth in charge of Mrs. Catherine Voight was well patronized during the evening. Mrs. Voight with her assistants had a busy evening and the amount realized from the sale of refreshments will help swell the pension fund.

The cloak room which was in charge of Mrs. Charles Locke always does a rushing business. A nice sum was realized which will help to increase the receipts for the evening. All of the booths were prettily decorated and harmonized with the novel decorations had for the ball.

Fog Covers New York.

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).--It was "black Friday" in New York's streets and harbor today. Fog which descended early in the morning and thickened as the day advanced delayed the docking of several trans-Atlantic liners, with large messenger lists and a great deal of overseas mails, and threw river, harbor and street traffic into a tangle.

In Police Court.

Albert Parks, arrested for public intoxication on East Union street Thursday evening, was given five days in jail today by Judge Shufeldt in police court. Another adjournment, this time to December 17, was taken in the hearing of Michael Touhey, under arrest on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated.

Old Roman School.

Puterich says that Spurius Carill was the first to open a school at Rome, B. C. 231. Other writers, however, imply that schools existed prior to this date.

The Eagle's Last Stand

There has been appreciation of the fact that the number of bald eagles in America is not increasing. For the danger, now announced in a pamphlet compiled by ornithologists of the American Museum of Natural History, that the bird which stood as a model for the coat of arms and emblem of the United States might become extinct, has not been fully understood. The fate of the passenger pigeon, once one of the most common of feathered Americans and now utterly extinct, does not yet stare the eagle in the face, for there is a possibility that the struts can be saved, but nine species of birds are given as beyond rescue. Fifteen others, the eagle among them, may be preserved for the generations to come. When it is learned that species like the flamingo, the California condor, the trumpeter swan and the whooping crane are definitely lost, there should be no lack of effort to save the threatened bird. Alaska is really the last stand of the bald eagle.

Rickness obviously is a tremendous economic burden. Individuals and families affected know that only too well. It is a burden which can be lightened only as medical science advances, as its services are extended to the widest possible numbers, and as knowledge of the conditions of good health is placed within the reach of all. A national committee under direction of Secretary Wilbur of the Interior department now is at work on the question, primarily the question of "whether we can develop sound American methods for distribution of scientific medicine, care to all members of the population at a cost which they can meet." It is not, however, the problem of any committee, group, or of the medical profession alone. It extends to every individual; for every person, through intelligently directed effort, can do something to aid its solution.

Even corn selling is different from what it used to be. First the surplus corn went to the flour mills. The elevators then came into existence, the flour mills beginning to disappear. "The corn went to the elevators. The 'up this bought is to be ground into meal and feeds, not for shipment, says a Shelbyville Republican. In the beginning of the grinding of corn in Shelby county, it was done by hand. The first flour mills were operated by water power which was supplanted by steam and now electricity has taken the place of steam, while water-power plants are driving generators that furnish the electricity. With the increase of dairy herds in the county many farmers will grind their feed with a "five-dollar Ford." It is one change to another every day.

Paris is now being urged as the center of men's fashions, as it is for women's according to the New York Sun. A number of interested persons have been trying to influence the garb of men toward brighter colors. It is probably due to their efforts that men's hats in pastel shades recently have won the recognition they have achieved. A reform in men's underwear has also illuminated shop windows on this side of the Atlantic. The drab, neutral colors that draped the limbs like a effus tent have given way to snappy, neat-fitting garments in two tones or stripes.

It may not be long before the railroads of the country will begin to use the roadside garage and repair shop for repairs to their equipment, according to the Wall Street Journal. A start in this direction was made recently when the Katy Flyer, the M-K-T's crack train, had a broken piston valve on the engine near Temple, Texas. The engineer coasted until he came to a garage, stopped his train, had the valve repaired at a cost of seventy-five cents, and pulled out thirty minutes late.

Paris fashions say that gowns will be much longer--at least for those who feel able to afford the extra material. Meanwhile, the independent young American woman who has her own ideas as to appearances and comfort will continue to consult her personal preferences as to how she will attire herself.

A movie concern has made a talking and sound newsreel of the Chinese-Russian war. They won't get our money when we can get the same effect by staying home and peering on the dish pan with a hammer and stepping on the cat's tail.

The Department of Agriculture has found that the cost of feeding the average college student ranges from 40 to 45 cents per day. It is surprising how much nourishment they get from science and history.

Airplanes rushed currency to a small town bank in planes in time to stop a panic. Modern improvements have their perils, but they are also mighty influential as a means of "baby-sitting."

Million Dollar Fire in Lisbon, Lisbon, Portugal, Dec. 12 (AP).--Fire today destroyed large stocks of Caramuzo across the Tagus from Lisbon, doing $1,000,000 worth of damage. The fire started by spontaneous combustion in the cork dust according to officials.

Kingston Police Banquet Held

Association of New York, extended the thanks of himself and New York officials for the hospitality shown them in their visit to Kingston. He stated that the police system was a necessity to any city, and suggested that the local police adopt the slogan used so successfully in New York--"Who can say no, when you mean so much to you?"

George Mulrooney, first vice-president of the same organization, complimented Peter Keresman, local patrolman, on his work in the salary increase plan, and stated that the man would bear watching, because he was destined to bigger things. He explained the present American standard of living made it necessary for the police to have increased salaries.

Other Speakers.

Other speakers on the program included Kingston Police Commissioner Clarence Royland and Dr. W. H. Connelly, who asked that the present standard of police efficiency be maintained; Joseph J. O'Reilly, secretary of the State Police Conference, who favored a salary increase; Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey, who indicated his favor to the police but promised nothing until an investigation had been made; Thomas J. Comerford of the Kingston Daily Leader, who gave his opinion on the Auburn insurance; Morton Lown, president of the Central Business Men's Association, who offered his personal and his organization's services to the police; Harry Kaplan, president of the Downtown Business Men's Association, who voiced the need of a salary increase; Peter Keresman, who stated that the local police were fortunate in having the backing of the New York organizations; Chief Wood, who complimented the patrolmen on their various lines of endeavor, and Larry Sharkey, New York patrolman, who entertained with a wealth of funny tales concerning the Irish.

At the conclusion of the event, a vote of thanks was tendered to Manager Gross of the Governor Clinton Hotel for the fine service and excellent meal. The flowers that decorated the speaker's table were given to Mrs. Gross as a mark of appreciation.

Last of British Leave Rhineland

Ostend, Belgium, Dec. 13 (AP).--The last party of British troops leaving the Rhineland after eleven years of occupation embarked here this morning for Dover, England, and home. Belgian officers and members of the British consulate gave the Tourmies a rousing send-off.

Religious Instruction. Albany, Dec. 12 (AP).--Eighty-nine per cent of the 55,000 girls between the ages of 14 and 17 in the continuation schools of New York state attend church or Sunday school or regularly receive some other form of religious education, according to a survey of the state education department made public today. Of boys in the same classification, only 77 per cent were receiving religious instruction.

A good deal of room at the top is made by gentlemen who have time to sleep there and fallen off.

Doheny Trial Set for March 10

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP).—The date for the trial of Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, on charges of bribery, was set for March 10 today by Justice Hitz in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

The indictment against the wealthy oil man is one of the series growing out of the oil cases made during the Harding administration, and the charge is that Doheny gave Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, a bribe of $100,000 in taxes.

Associated with the case to Doheny's company of the Elk Hills Naval Oil Reserve in California.

Fall was recently convicted on the charge of receiving the $100,000 from Doheny and was fined $100,000 and given a suspended sentence of a year in jail.

Senate Considers Tax Revision.
Washington, Dec. 12 (AP).—The administration's proposal for a one per cent cut in the corporation income tax rate drew fire in the Senate today, but both Republican and Democratic leaders rallied to its defense as the Senate settled down to consideration of the House resolution to carry out the program for a $100,000,000 reduction in individual and corporation income taxes.

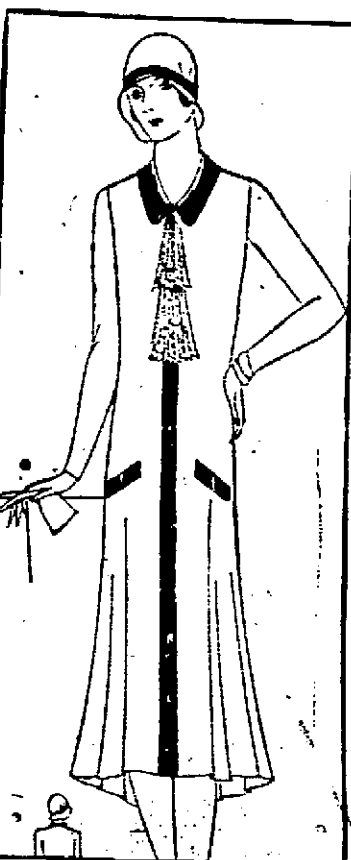

Winter Silhouette More Flattering

Slenderizing, Trim, Fits to Body Snugly, and Is Generally Approved.

Last winter my enthusiasm for fabric consumed me completely. This winter the silhouette seems all important. To put on a dress that is slenderizing and trim, and that fits to the body more snugly than before, makes one long to adjust all of last year's dresses to the new year style. One look in the mirror will tell you that the new silhouette is more flattering than any we have had in a score of years, writes Jane Warren Wells, in Fashions and Fashions.

The princess dress shown here needs smart wool crepe in one's favorite brown, red, green or blue, with a slightly lighter or darker tone of the same fabric for trimming. If a silk dress is preferred in this design, any one of the trend printed silks would be lovely. Again, there are some charming cottons in trend print designs, and in sufficiently dark colors to be suitable for winter, that would make this design as smartly as silk or wool fabric.

A jabot-trimmed frock should be made of the smart new moule or a small print in silk or challis. Notice how trim the shoulders are, how graceful the long sleeves and how new the slightly longer skirt, looks. Four inches below the center of the knee cap is the accepted length for daytime dresses. Skirts may be slightly longer for tall people and shorter for short figures. Many skirts are cut to hang two inches longer in the back than in the front, especially in the case of skirts with circular flares.

There Are a Number of Materials Suitable for This Frock.

Jabots of lace and collar-trimmed necklines are definitely in style. With unbelted dresses this is a particularly important fashion.

Canton crepe, flat crepe, transparent velvet or heavy georgette would prove the most charming medium for a very feminine design with the tiered skirt.

In hemming the cascade, belt and tier edges turn the raw edges over one-eighth inch and stitch it; then make another one-eighth inch turn and run the edge down as for tiny hem with the finest of running stitches. If your thread matches perfectly the stitches will not show after careful pressing.

No matter what dress you choose be sure above all that the neckline is becoming to you and pay special attention to a collar trimming. Lastly, see that your hat is right for your frock and that you wear it in the smart new manner.

Attractive Pajama Suits in Bright Silk, Crepe

Red pajamas come in crepe de chine and the synthetic rub silks and satins. A trousseau brought from Paris includes several attractive suits. Some of them are so elaborate and so costume-like that they are not easily distinguished from the style of pajamas that are worn at tea time.

Late styles in bed pajamas are in every sense comfortable, with ample trousers and blouses of easy fit. In some models blouse and trousers are attached so as to have the effect of a single garment. One of these in pale pink crepe de chine has wide straight trousers that are caught up with shirring into a band of ecru tulle. Alencon lace from the instep almost to the knee. The lace in these narrow strips is set between shirring in the front of the blouse and a matching edge finishes the bottom of the over-blouse, which is sleeveless. The lace also outlines a pointed yoke at the top.

Some handsome pajama suits, quite unusual in cut, are made of rub silk with bright stripes and of crepe printed with pretty flower patterns. The latter are bound in plain colored satin. Pajamas and negligees are equally fashionable for tea time or a house costume and quantities of lace are used in both.

GREEK MEETS GREEK, ART DEALERS STUNG

Clever Crooks Spring New One on Paris.

Paris.—This is a new version of the story about what happened when Greek meets Greek.

There came a few days ago into the bustling city of Paris a simple Greek peasant from the north, with an enshrouded tale of hardship, where all that is known of art is confined to the surviving work of Greeks of many centuries ago.

When the Greek youth descended from the train he was met by a fellow countryman, an ex-officer in the Greek army, a man of wide knowledge and great warm heartedness. He hurried his young compatriot to the hotel, where they had arranged to stay and there the innocent youth from Delphi revealed the treasure, the only one which he had brought from Greece with him. It was a Greek statue in gold.

Come to Hotel.

As the ex-officer explained when he went about the statue the next day trying to sell the statue for the peasant was anxious to realize its worth—the thing was a priceless piece of Greek beauty. And when interested would be purchasers asked to see it, the officer replied:

"But you must come to my hotel. My young countryman is suspicious of the worldly wise people of Paris. He will not allow the statue to leave his possession."

So two of the would-be buyers went along to the hotel and gazed with dazzled eyes upon the work of art. Never had they seen such a gem.

"May we take the statue away with us to examine the gold?" they asked. The Greek peasant frantically shook his head. Never that. The statue was all he had in the world. He could not afford to risk letting it out of his sight. But, if the experts wished they could take samples of the gold from a part of the statue which was not visible—say under the arm.

Two Sick Crooks. This was agreed to, the samples were taken, and the experts carried them off and examined them to their complete satisfaction. They returned next day and handed over the statue. The Greek peasant, however, was not satisfied. He demanded compensation for the statue was evidently worth a cool million.

The buyers carried off their prize and the ex-officer bid them good-by, saying he would see his compatriot off to Marseilles on the boat that would take him back to dear old Delphi. "I will return," he said, "for my commission."

But he never did. He called with his countryman for the homeland. The buyers of the statue know why. The pair were a couple of smart crooks—Greeks right enough—who thought out the simple scheme of putting some gold under the arms of a statue of a woman, a statue which was worth perhaps two dollars as an ordinary study. Apart from the five pieces under the arms the metal was worthless throughout.

College Frank Vexes

Hastings Weather Man

Hastings, Neb.—When bigger and better cloudbursts are made college youths will make them.

Because youths at Hastings college play occasional pranks, Prof. W. J. Kent, government weather observer, cannot rely on the readings of the rain gauge in the weather station on the college campus. He must take his readings on rainfall from a gauge downtown.

The thermometer, barometer and other instruments on the campus are enclosed, but the end of the rain gauge that must catch the precipitation must be exposed to the weather, and incidentally to the college boys through a hole in the roof.

A gallon of water poured into the gauge will cause a veritable cloudburst to register. And these cloudbursts, according to the gauge, often occur on cloudless nights.

Doubt Book's Title

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Dec. 12 (AP).—(State department of Agriculture and Market)—Heavier receipts combined with unfavorable weather resulted in a slump on Florida strawberries. Trading was limited and wholesale business was commensurate. 50-55 cents per quart basket.

The undertone of the market on New York celery was with a decided change. Arrivals were moderate and the demand was fair. In the rough, packed in crates, the price ranged from $2.75-$3.75, depending upon the quality and condition. New York city's celery receipts during the previous month had 451 cars. This state contributed 321 cars, while the remainder originated in California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and New Jersey. Increased supplies and limited demand caused a sharp price decline. Virginia spinach, Bushel baskets, sold out from 40c to $1. Last week Virginia started 191 cars and 125 to city markets. Although price changes were small and unimportant on state cabbage, onions and potatoes, the market ruled very dull.

The demand for California green beans was moderate and the tone of the market steady. Offerings were more plentiful. Crates of approximately 10 and 45 pounds sold at $9.00, and as low as $8.00, most sales, however, being reported at $7.50-$8.00. Prices tended upward on cauliflower on large size and attractive quality. The demand was more active despite the increase in the supplies. For the week ended December 11, 1929, George W. Booth.

FULL SENATE OF SENATOR GRUNDY'S FIRST DAY

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP).—The smiling and affable face of Joseph E. Grundy, the new Senator from Pennsylvania, was one of the first seen in the Senate chamber today and its presence resulted in the Senate having its full membership of 96 members for the first time in three years.

It was Grundy's first full day as a Senator. He apparently was giving no thought to the turmoil of less than 24 hours ago when a group of Senators spoke out in his presence against his taking a seat because they said he had been connected with the now famous Pennsylvania senatorial campaign of 1926.

Grundy's colleague, Senator Reed, was standing by to show him such matters of procedure as he was not acquainted with after his many months in the gallery observing the tariff debate.

More friendly than yesterday, a number of Senators shook hands with him as they passed. Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, one of Mr. Grundy's severest examiners on the lobby committee, crossed the chamber to greet him.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health: Mr. and Mrs. John J. Marone, 83 Star street, a daughter, Eleanor Conetta. Serving will start at 6:30 o'clock and will continue until all have had the inner man completely satisfied.

Veterans Held Busy Meeting

The weekly meeting of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1156, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held Thursday night in the Dugout on East Chestnut street, with Vice Commander Bernard V. Roach presiding, was crowded with business matters that concerned the wholehearted attention of the ex-servicemen who turned out in a large number.

One important matter settled was the setting of the date for the annual Christmas tree and mysterious package party. It will be held on Thursday, December 19, in the Dugout. A good time for every veteran and his family, including the little children, is promised. Every veteran is asked to bring a small gift, securely wrapped, for the mysterious package party. Each one at the party, at a set time, will be given a mysterious package. After the party dancing will be enjoyed by the grownups, while the children will occupy their time talking to Santa Claus who will give even a present from the vets' Christmas tree. The Ladies' Auxiliary will assist the veterans in making ready for and conducting the party.

Relief work for the Christmas period was taken up and the committee in charge will do their best to see that every ex-serviceman, whose circumstances are not prosperous, is provided with a Christmas basket. This procedure is taken by Joyce-Schirick Post every year.

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood's reply to the Veterans' offer to fill the places of policemen who wished to attend the annual police ball held in the armory Wednesday, was read at the meeting. In the letter thanking Joyce-Schirick Post members for their offer, which was not taken up on account of suitable arrangements previously made, Chief Wood said: Should occasion require aid for this department at any time in the future I feel that I might call upon your organization for aid, knowing full well that you represent 100 per cent cooperation in everything you undertake. I appreciate the spirit which prompted your organization and desire to say that this spirit has frequently been exhibited by your organization.

It was reported that the sale of "The History and Rhymes of the Lost Battalion", a book containing the true life humor, pathos and action of the A. E. F. during the World War, was being conducted in a successful manner. The author and publisher of the book, with the aid of a group of workers, is conducting the sale by telephone from the Joyce-Schirick Post home on East Chestnut street. A percentage of the proceeds will be turned over to the post.

Mother of Four Made Sheriff in Kentucky

A forty-year-old mother of four children will be sheriff of the mountain county of Knox, in Kentucky, for the next four years.

She is Mrs. Jennie M. Walker, a great-granddaughter of Gen. Robert E. Lee. She ran for office as an independent and carried the county by a majority of 368 votes.

Mrs. Walker entered the race after her husband, B. P. Walker, had won the Republican nomination for sheriff by a 700 majority on the face of primary returns and then had lost it in a contest suit filed by one of his opponents, Lie Taylor. As soon as the case was decided Mrs. Walker announced her candidacy, running without a party emblem.

Washington.—The United States Civil Service commission spares no pains in probing the character of prospective federal employees, especially for law enforcement positions.

In endeavoring to separate the chaff from the wheat the commission has striven to keep abreast of the times, so much so, in fact, that it may be said that it is next to impossible for a man with a "recondite" to worm his way into a position with Uncle Sam. Fingerprints are largely responsible for this barrier.

A few years back, along with the general increase in crime, mail robberies in large centers took a sudden and startling jump. The circumstances of many of the thefts pointed to inside assistance, or at least inside information. The accuracy with which holdup men were able to spot valuable pieces of mail left little doubt that employees in the service were tipping them off.

First Experiments.

The first experiments with fingerprinting postal employees were made in the New York City post office. The result was the discovery of a considerable number of men employed in the office who had criminal records.

Having found a way to eliminate criminals already employed, the next step was to enlarge the system to prevent further employment of those who might seek to enter Uncle Sam's service to extend their field of criminal operations.

Gradually, as the means is made available by congress, the Civil Service commission is establishing a system whereby eventually every person who enters the federal civil service will be fingerprinted. The commission has installed a fingerprint system in approximately 1,200 cities, including Washington, and in those cities all appointees are fingerprinted for comparison with the records of the central fingerprint register of the Department of Justice.

Thus far the results have more than justified the expense involved. For example, the losses of the New York City post office were reduced 50 per cent during a Christmas holiday rush by fingerprinting all applicants for temporary employment.

value of fingerprinting in connection with civil service examinations it was dispelled by the commission's experience in fingerprinting all applicants for positions under the bureau of prohibition. Many crooks attempted to obtain employment in the prohibition force. Fingerprints, however, kept them out.

Fingerprint records taken by the civil service commission's agents throughout the country are first checked locally, but the backbone of the whole system is the central fingerprint register of the Department of Justice.

After the local checking the records are sent to the commission's office in Washington and are compared with the Department of Justice's register, which is made up of reports from penal institutions all over the country. The commission now maintains expert fingerprint classifiers in its main office and in several of its district offices.

Big Toe Signal of Brain Power, Says Specialist

London.—Watch your big toe, its behavior tells the state of your brains. According to a recent medical opinion by an expert the behavior of the big toe is an infallible criterion of the condition of the brain.

If the bottom of the foot is gently stroked or tickled the big toe will probably stick upward when the brain is healthy, according to the expert's dictum.

If it curls downward, have your brain examined, there is something wrong with it.

The action of the other toes can be ignored in the test.
